

Lights

These lights are very old.

It shows the lights people had many years ago. It shows the packages Christmas lights used to come in years ago. It captures a moment in time by what lights people had years ago. It shows what people were like because she never took them out of the package. It really captures a moment in time.

It really connects to my great grandmother because they were her lights. It also connects to my mom because when she died my mom saw them and her mom said she should take them. It really connects to my mom because every year at Christmas she remembers that my great grandmother never took them out of the package. It connects four generations because we still don't take the lights out of the package. It connects a lot of people in my life.

It lives at our house. It is very important to our family. It is important because it is from mom's grandma. It has been passed down from generation to generation, so far three generations.

It brings happy memories. I know that every Christmas it will still be in the packaging. It brings forth very happy memories especially in this time. Every time I see it I think of her. I think of it in her house.

I would like to see this item preserved for the future so other people can share in the beauty of the Christmas lights.
